PAGE, SCRANTOM, SPROUSE, TUCKER & FORD, P.C.

Page, Scrantom, Sprouse, Tucker & Ford is one of the oldest and largest law firms in West Central Georgia, and is a regional leader in the banking, corporate, and litigation practice areas. The firm concentrates in the areas of banking, corporations, federal and state taxation, real estate, labor and employment, insurance defense and general litigation in all state and federal courts and administrative agencies. Considerable estate planning is also done along with some personal injury and domestic relations representation for individuals. Clients are primarily businesses (corporations, partnerships, and individuals), professional organizations, major insurance companies, the city's largest bank, and the local housing and development authorities.

A TRADITION OF EXCELLENCE

The firm was originally formed almost a century ago under the name of Slade & Swift. Its substantial client base continues to include companies (and their successors) that were clients of the firm during its early years. For many years the firm was named Swift, Pease, Davidson & Chapman. The present firm was incorporated as a Georgia professional corporation on January 1, 1971 under the name Swift, Page, Davidson, & Chapman, P.C. In 1996 the firm then named Page & Scrantom, P.C., merged with Sprouse, Tucker & Ford, P.C., and changed its name to its current form. The firm has historically attracted young achieving graduates from a variety of law schools including Emory, Mercer, University of Georgia, University of Alabama, New York University, Duke, Stetson, Harvard, Notre Dame, George Washington, Georgetown, Samford, and Florida State. Throughout its history members of Page, Scrantom, Sprouse, Tucker & Ford have consistently distinguished themselves as civic leaders in Columbus and as professional leaders in local, state, and national bar associations.
